Who We Are
The Clinton Greenway Conservation Trust is a land trust based in Clinton, Massachusetts, dedicated to the protection and enjoyment of open space. Like you, we want to protect the places we love and enjoy these outdoor treasures. Together, we protect the distinct character of Clinton. Our mission is to preserve and protect these special places through better access and awareness.

What We Do
We enjoy all of the open areas in Clinton. We sponsor activities on currently protected properties to encourage access and appropriate use. Join us for a hike, picnic, or just enjoy the location.

As a land trust, we receive direct contributions of open parcels and hold conservation restrictions.

What We Are Working on Now

Town of Clinton Open Space Plan
The CGCT has been instrumental in the development and implementation of the Town of Clinton Open Space and Recreation Plans. Our current action plan is highlighted in this brochure. Protection and access to these special places is our mission and highest priority.

Mass Central Rail Trail
Beginning at North Station in Boston and ending in Northampton, the Mass Central Line came right through Clinton. Many portions of this inactive rail-road line have been developed into multi-use rail trail. We have made it a priority to complete the Clinton portion that connects with Berlin and Hudson to the east and Sterling to the west.
See www.masscentralrailtrail.org for more information.

Rauscher Farm
Rauscher Farm was purchased by the Town of Clinton in June, 2008. This 62+/- acre parcel had been in agricultural use for several hundred years. Located on Clamshell Road, Rauscher Farm was the last working farm in Clinton. The Friends of Rauscher Farm, a subcommittee of CGCT, worked tirelessly to inform the townspeople of the tremendous opportunity to buy the farm and keep it as protected open space. Establishing trails, educational programs, and raising an endowment to provide for the ongoing maintenance and protection of the farm are high priorities. Thinking creatively, we have launched the Clinton Roll of Honor project that celebrates community and contributes to the endowment.
